Law 0058/2021 - RELATING TO THE PROTECTION OF PERSONAL DATA AND PRIVACY

Dataworks in conjunction with the Digital Business Institute (DBI), are co-hosting a webinar titled - “0058/2021 - The Law – Insights into the Law and the role of a Data Protection Officer”, which will offer attendees an insight into the law, the role of a Data Protection Officer and some of the challenges faced by organisations, and how they can be tackled before the two years window expires on October 15 th , 2023

The Law revolutionises how personal data would be handled in Rwanda, presents a number of mechanisms to support the fair and proper use of information about individuals, and introduces the role of a Data Protection Officer - a pivotal role that would help organisations on the journey to comply with the Law.

Consequently, the Law also creates a new data protection industry in Rwanda that will require a significant number of professionals with relevant skills and expertise to help organisations on the journey of compliance.

As such, organisations need to get up to speed, understand their data protection related obligations, and appoint an effective and skilled Data Protection Officer - one that would support them on the journey of compliance.
